c. Treasurer's Report

- i. We made $900. The meeting for the treasurers is tentatively Jan. 26, Thursday, at noon. Show up, sign in, if questions, ask them. Then leave. Formal meeting on Feb. 10 or 12 at 3pm. Feb. 11th is a no-go because it's Barrister's. If Sunday, (the 12th) it will likely start later in the day.

d. Secretary's Report

- i. Kat not here; at another meeting.

VII. Class Reports

a. 3L Class Report

i. ERIC HOLDER! WHOO

1. It was a huge surprise that we got him. They didn't think he would be coming. He is the current attorney general, but that could change by the time he speaks. We did better than Duke Law's commencement speaker! Hell yeah!
2. 3L Concern: since commencement is open to the public, will there be any limit on the number of family members each student can invite?
 - a. Crystal: Probably not. But I will talk to John K. to make sure.
 - b. Elyssa: Family members should be able to come first, and have a standby line for the public. Are we going to do a family BBQ still? This is something we need to discuss.
 - c. Kavita: It still shouldn't be an issue, since Carmichael is so large. But I'm just saying, it could be a concern.
3. Crystal: Lasertag or paintball would be fun.
4. Kavita: What happened to the photobooth idea? Is that still happening?

ii. Date Auction?

1. Could we try this on a Thursday night, Feb. 9? (Hundred Days' Social is Feb. 2). Elyssa will email Christina Cress about it this week. This would work out well because it's right before Barrister's, and right before Valentine's Day.
2. You don't bid to participate in the auction; you only bid to spend money on people. Therefore, it doesn't violate our SBA rules.
3. Law Revue: Feb. 24th, Thursday (tentatively)

b. 2L Class Report

- i. Nick isn't here; in a meeting.

c. 1L Class Report

- i. JM: working on the Class T-shirts. We have a design picked out; the next step is to meet with Kasprzak and get it approved.
- ii. Ryan: two initiatives
 1. Getting UNC Law padfolios for the 1L Class (they were given away free to 2Ls and 3Ls in past years, but not this year for 1Ls)
 - a. We will either sell them, fund them with a bar night, or some combination of both.
 2. Talked to Steve Graham from Carolina Snacks (the person who stocks the law bar with food from Chick-Fil-A and Cosmic Cantina)

- a. I met with him last semester and suggested that he bring fresh food for breakfast.
- b. He said he was going to a food convention, would explore some options.
- c. Didn't find anything at the convention, but said he would try to get his Chick-Fil-A contact to bring breakfast biscuits at some point, at least on an experimental basis to see how well they sell.
