Professor Anup Malani(University of Virginia)

Speaking on his paper “Habeas Bargaining”

Friday, March 19th from 12:00-1:00 p.m. in the Faculty Lounge

A sign up sheet and copies of the paper are outside Professor Davis' office.

SUMMER JOB WITH SUMMER SUCCESS

Ready for your summer job? A little nervous about that first big research assignment? Let the library staff help you prepare for a summer job with Summer Success. Summer Success is a hands on workshop on Saturday, March 20 from 8:30 3:30. You will be given a fact situation and will research through the problem working with our reference librarians. Get tips on how to approach a research problem, and refreshers on how to use the sources both on-line and in print. The cost is $10 and a continental breakfast and lunch are included. Register at the library reference desk . The registration deadline is Thursday March 18th.

PAID SUMMER POSITIONS WITH THE UNC CENTER FOR CIVIL RIGHTS

The UNC Center for Civil Rights seeks four law students for paid summer positions. Students will work under the direction of Anita Earls (the Center's Director of Advocacy) and Professor Jack Boger on a variety of legal issues including public education, community development, voting rights, and housing. Anticipated activities include meeting with community groups, drafting legal memoranda and pleadings, conducting factual investigations, and assisting in the planning of a major national conference. The positions are designed to last for 12 weeks at 35 hours/week, but split summers may be possible. Please deliver résumé and transcript to Prof. Boger by March 25th.

4. RESEARCH ASSISTANT POSITIONS

SUMMER RESEARCH ASSISTANTS

Professor Hazen is looking for summer research assistants. Anyone interested should contact Professor Hazen (thazen@unc.edu) and submit a resume.

5. SCHOLARSHIP & CONTEST INFORMATION

VIRGINIA SPORTS & ENTERTAINMENT LAW JOURNAL

The Virginia Sports & Entertainment Law Journal invites you to participate in their National Note Competition. The topic area can be any topic pertaining to sports law or entertainment law. The awards for 1st place: $200 & publication, 2nd and 3rd place: publication. Deadline for submissions is June 10, 2004. More information is available in the Law Registrar's Office.

BERKELEY WOMEN'S LAW JOURNAL WRITING AWARD

The Berkeley Women's Law Journal would like to invite students and public interest practitioners of all disciplines to submit articles for consideration. BWLJ publishes pieces that address the lives and struggles of underrepresented women. The article selected for the award will be published in Spring 2005 and its author will receive $250. Articles must be received by November 1, 2004 in order to be considered. More information is available in the Law Registrar's Office.

SUMMER FUNDING POSSIBILITIES FOR UNPAID SUMMER PUBLIC INTEREST INTERNSHIPS

There are several sources of funding through the law school if you will be working in an unpaid public interest setting this summer. Criteria for the grants differs. You are encouraged to apply to all grants for which your placement would be eligible (but you are allowed to receive only one grant). Please note that not all students who apply for funding will be able to get funding.

IOLTA: The Board of Trustees of the North Carolina State Bar Plan for Interest on Lawyer=s Trust Accounts (IOLTA) has approved funding for five UNC law students to pursue service summer internships. A three thousand ($3000) stipend (minus taxes) will be awarded to each of the five law students. The student must work at an approved participating IOLTA organization. The placements are all in North Carolina and include D.A.s offices, PDs offices, Legal Services offices and some other nonprofit organizations. The application is open to first and second year law students. Applications for IOLTA grants will be available from Hudson Fuller and will be due by 5:00 p.m. on March 17th. Recipients will tentatively be announced by March 23rd.

C-PILO (Carolina Public Interest Law Organization) grants: C-PILO is a student organization that each year raises money to give summer grants to students working in summer placements. This year the grants will likely be around $2500. The applications will probably be due in late March and the recipients will be announced shortly thereafter. The number if recipients will likely be between ten and fifteen. C-PILO handles their own grant application and questions about eligibility should be directed to the C-PILO officers.

ILENE NELSON INTERNSHIP FOR CHILD ADVOCACY: grant given to a law student who will be working during the summer with a non-profit, legal services organization, governmental or private group that focuses on children's rights and advocacy. Applications will be available on March 1st from Hudson Fuller and will be due on March 17th. The applications of those applicants who do not receive funding will be forwarded to Child Action to be considered for funding by them.

STEVEN WHITSELL MEMORIAL INTERNSHIP: small stipend paid to student working with an organization that promotes social justice and, if possible, specifically, affordable housing. Preference given to students in dual degree of Law and City and Regional Planning. There will not be a separate application for this grant. Instead, there will be a place on the C-PILO grant to indicate whether you wish to be considered for this grant.

CAROLINA COMMUNITY SERVICE WORK-STUDY PROGRAM: If you receive more than $1400 in financial aid or loans through the university, you may be eligible to receive a work-study grant. We hope to receive between ten and twelve work-study grants this year. You must work at a 501(c)(3) organization and the employer must be willing to pay part of your salary. Several organizations coming on campus for the Public Interest Job Fair or requesting mail-outs have indicated a willingness to participate depending on their funding. The Community Work-Study Program is 75% federal funded, while the agency is responsible for paying 25% of the student's wages plus FICA. Law students will be paid $8.50 an hour for a ten week period. The agency will therefore be responsible for about $1200 per student. The work period for work-study grants is a ten week work period, 40 hours a week (this is not flexible). The Office of Financial Aid and Scholarships will provide payroll services to the student and will simply bill the agency by June 1st for the 25% plus matching FICA share. The application process is rolling. Please see Hudson Fuller if you have questions about these grants.

CABANISS, JOHNSTON SCHOLARSHIP

The Cabaniss, Johnston Scholarship is awarded to a resident of Alabama for the second year of law school. Applicants for a scholarship should be in all respects superior. While academic achievement will be the key factor, consideration will also be given to factors such as conscientiousness, dependability, civic involvement, financial need and dedication to the highest ethical standards. The amount of the scholarship is $5,000. A second place scholarship of $1,000 will also be awarded. The deadline for applying for the 2004-05 school year is June 4, 2004. More information is available in the Law Registrar's Office.

The Program starts Monday, July 12 - Friday, July 30. More information is available in the Law Registrar's Office.

BAR SUCCESS WORKSHOP

For the fourth year in a row we are offering a review workshop for graduating students. The workshop is not intended to replace your summer preparation or any other review courses. Rather, our goal is to alert you to some common themes our faculty committee has pinpointed concerning ways to maximize your potential to succeed the first time you take the exam. The workshop will be run by Ms. Denise Chapin, an adjunct faculty member at Carolina Law.

The three-part workshop will meet at the following times and places:

Wednesday, March 17, 6:15-9:00 p.m., in room 5042. This first meeting will be a review of what the North Carolina bar exam entails and how it is scored. It will also include concrete information about how to prepare for the exam. You are invited to attend this first meeting even if you do not intend to participate in the next two meetings that will focus specifically on the essay portion of the North Carolina bar exam.

Wednesdays, March 24 and March 31, 6:15-8:45 p.m., in room 5042. These second and third meetings will focus on the essay portion of the bar exam, and require a commitment to attend both of these sessions. Concrete information concerning the differences between law school essay exam questions and bar exam essays will be discussed. You will also have an opportunity to try writing some bar exam essay questions and will obtain feedback about effective answers.

If you have questions, please see Hudson Fuller in the Student Affairs Suite.

AUGSBURG UNIVERSITY PRESENTATION MEETING

The UNC School of Law is starting an exchange program with the University of Augsburg in Germany. UNC-Law students will be eligible to go study at Augsburg during the summer, starting in summer 2005. Two Augsburg representatives will be at UNC to present their program, university and city on March 17th, 2004. The meeting will take place on Wednesday, March 17th at noon, in Room 4085.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF ENVIRONMENTAL LAW SOCIETIES ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Lewis & Clark Law School, nationally recognized for its award-winning environmental and natural resources law program, offers a 10-week summer program packed with innovative, fast-paced environmental law courses as well as more general classes.

This spring, Lewis & Clark will also host the National Association of Environmental Law Societies' annual conference, "Public Lands at the Crossroads: Balancing Interests in the 21st Century." This conference, to be held March 26-28, 2004, to discuss the future of public lands in the U.S. The conference will be a great opportunity for law professors and students to hear the latest developments in the field.
